Summary of Primary Professional Duties

- Training psychologists, psychiatrists, and attorneys regarding forensic mental health assessment
- Research and consulting to improve forensic mental health assessment and improve forensic mental health service systems
- Research and consultation to help others identify, understand, and reduce biases in forensic assessments and forensic science procedures
- Performing forensic mental health evaluations and consultation addressing issues such as:
 - Capital sentencing
 - Violence risk assessment
 - Sex offender risk assessment
 - Sexual behavior problems among juveniles
 - Sanity or mental state at time of offense
 - Adjudicative competence and waiver of rights
 - Psychological injury and other mental health issues in civil litigation
 - Fitness for duty (law enforcement, government agencies, etc)
 - Threat assessment and risk management consultations to universities, businesses

*Social WorkLicensure

Licensed Psychologist, Texas
Licensed Psychologist, Virginia

Authority to Practice Interjurisdictional Telepsychology (APIT)
Temporary Authorization to Practice (TAP)
 Granted by the PSYPACT Commission

PSYPACT is an interstate compact that allows licensed psychologists to practice telepsychology and conduct temporary in-person face-to-face practice of psychology across state boundaries legally and ethically without necessitating that an individual become licensed in every state to practice. Psychologists with APIT or TAP authorization can currently practice in 28 states in the United States.

National Leadership

2022: President-Elect, American Psychological Association's Division 41,
the American Psychology-Law Society, the primary professional organization for psychologists involved in the legal system.

Grants and Contracts

- 9/15-present Center for Statistics and Applications to Forensic Evidence
 Funded by: National Institute of Standards and Technology to the University of Virginia
 Position: Researcher
 Support: Varies by year
 This multi-year, $20 million grant established a multi-university center of excellence for improving the statistical and scientific foundations of forensic science. I lead studies addressing human factors, including cognitive biases, in forensic science procedures.
- 7/10-present Contract to provide state-wide training and consultation in forensic mental health evaluation
 Funded by: Virginia Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Services to the University of Virginia's Institute of Law, Psychiatry, & Public Policy
 Position: Principal Investigator, Training Coordinator
 Support: $210,000 annually (varies by year)
- 1/14-6/14 Contract to develop and deliver training on outpatient competence restoration
 Funded by: Virginia Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Services to the University of Virginia's Institute of Law, Psychiatry, & Public Policy
 Position: Co-Principal Investigator
 Support: $90,000 annually
- 5/10-5/13 Do forensic experts with access to the same information come to different conclusions when retained by opposing sides in adversarial legal proceedings?
 Funded by: Law and Social Science Program, National Science Foundation.
 Position: Co-Principal Investigator
 Support: $310,000

- 5/06 – 12/07 Risk Markers for Sexual Violence and Victimization among Prison Inmates
 Funded by: National Institutes of Justice
 Position: Site manager for Texas data collection in this two-state study.
 Support: $36,000 over one year
- 8/04 -8/07 Mentoring Children of Prisoners
 Funded by: Division of Youth and Families, United States Department of Health and Human Services
 Position: Principal Investigator, Program Coordinator
 Support: $300,000 over three years

Formal Consultations to Forensic Systems (selected examples, rather than exhaustive list)

- State of Colorado (court-appointed “special master” to oversee state’s compliance with Consent Decree to improve competency-related services; with colleague Neil Gowensmith).
- State of California (multi-year consultation contracts to improve competency-related services).
- State of Washington (multiple periods of consultation regarding improvements in the forensic service delivery system; with colleagues Ira Packer and Neil Gowensmith).
- State of Alabama (consultation to improve services addressing competence to stand trial; with colleagues Ira Packer and Neil Gowensmith).
- Washington, DC Department of Behavioral Health (training for evaluations of juvenile adjudicative competence, training and consulting for adult competence restoration).
- State of Hawaii (developing a state-wide training and quality assurance for forensic evaluators).
- Texas Youth Commission (systematic screening and assessment procedures for juvenile offenders)
